

Some elements of a new professionalism

These are a draft set of actions proposed by the Edge and reproduced in the editorial of the Special Issue. They are aimed at what the individual professional can do.

1. Be a steward of the community, its resources, and the planet. Take a broad view.
2. Do the right thing, beyond your obligation to whoever pays your fee.
3. Develop trusting relationships, with open and honest collaboration.
4. Bridge between design, project implementation, and use. Concentrate on the outcomes.
5. Don't walk away. Provide follow-through and aftercare.
6. Evaluate and reflect upon the performance in use of your work. Feed back the findings.
7. Learn from your actions and admit your mistakes. Share your understanding openly.
8. Bring together practice, industry, education, research and policymaking.
9. Challenge assumptions and standards. Be honest about what you don't know.
10. Understand contexts and constraints. Create lasting value. Keep options open for the future.

Institutions have a significant role in underpinning this, encouraging the appropriate conditions for adoption, and providing additional support through the creation and sharing of knowledge.
